Projects

War of Brawns Prototype Capstone Project (C#):
- Mobile application that engages video gamers in a fantasy role play game where storyline and character progression rely solely on the user's physical activity.
- Created by the War of Brawns team using Unity, Visual Studio, and Firebase while following Agile Software Development.
- Assigned work according to team roles as team lead for prototype development and documents.
- Developed features such as daily suggested caloric intake and manual input for workout tracking.

Novel-Alerts (Python):
- Desktop application that allows the user to enter in data so that when new updates are detected it sends an email to the user.
- Created using PyQt5 while following the Model-View-Controller design pattern.
- Implemented tests using the unittest framework and Travis-CI.
